

LEIGH ACADEMIES TRUST
CAREERS EDUCATION, INFORMATION, ADVICE AND GUIDANCE POLICY (CEIAG)

Last reviewed: August 2024

Date of next review: August 2025

Introduction

The Education Act 2011 inserted a new duty into section 42A, into Part VII of the Education Act 1997, requiring schools to secure access to independent careers guidance for pupils in years 7-13. Careers guidance must be presented in an impartial manner and promote the best interests of the pupils. This must include information on all options available in respect of education or training, including apprenticeships and other work-based education and options.

In December 2017 the government's revised publication of the Careers Strategy for England clarified the new statutory requirements for schools and colleges in relation to Careers Guidance and Access. The Department of Education Statutory Guidance includes guidance on how schools/colleges will include work-related learning as part of the CEIAG programme.

The Leigh Academies Trust (LAT) CEIAG policy adheres to the CDI Framework (Career Development Institute) and manages career learning in line with the Gatsby benchmarks.

CEIAG is designed to meet the needs of all pupils to develop the knowledge, confidence and skills they need to make well-informed decisions that enable them to progress into future learning, training and employment. A young person's pathway through learning and work requires support, commitment and strong leadership from all involved.

All pupils need a planned programme of activities to help them make informed decisions and plan their futures, both in the academy and after they leave. A stable, planned careers programme that is embedded into the wider curriculum will support the development of pupils' self-awareness, opportunity-awareness, ability to access and interpret careers information, decision-making skills, and effective transition skills.

IAG enhances and complements wider careers education provision and is currently available from Years 6 to Year 14.

The overarching aims are to:

- encourage and support pupils to positively engage in career learning opportunities help pupils explore and decide on options
- support pupils to choose appropriate post-16 and post-18 destinations
- work towards the prevention of pupils becoming NEET (not engaged in education employment or training) and/or becoming disengaged
- support educational improvement for vulnerable groups
- increase social mobility

LAT is committed to providing work-related learning as well as developing strong connections with employers who will support work-related learning within the Trust.
